

The Paper Craft Tutor.com

Welcome to my world

Sunday, October 25, 2020

Good morning to you all

Did you remember to turn the clocks back last night?

It is strange for me to think that this is going to be the final newsletter I ever compose, having prepared one every Sunday morning for almost eleven years now, but life just has to move on.

My final update will be on Saturday 31st October & from then on I won't be interacting with the site at all, including checking emails, so you will be on your own for the final month. Remember to download anything you do want to hang onto before midnight on December 2nd, when the site will be deactivated completely.

So the final ten pairs of decoupage with matching C6 envelope for you coming up, though you already know what the images of the envelope look like so I am only showing the matching decoupage sheets here this morning.

Enjoy your Sunday

Rita x

